SUBJECT: Commercial Availability Review on Apparel of Woven Double-Napped
Cotton Flannel Fabric (Investigation No. 332-458-021)

The U.S. International Trade Commission initiated a review to provide advice concerning a petition filed under the "commercial availability" provision of the United States-Caribbean Basin Trade Partnership Act (CBTPA) on apparel of certain cotton flannel fabric used in shirts, trousers, nightwear, robes, dressing gowns, and woven underwear. The petition states that the fabric is a woven cotton flannel fabric, napped on both sides, and classified in HTS 5209.31.60.50. Further information on the petition is available on the website of the U.S. Department of Commerce, Office of Textiles and Apparel, at <http://otexa.ita.doc.gov/fr2004/comav33.htm>

The petition was filed on behalf of Picacho, S.A., by Sandler, Travis & Rosenberg, P.A., and received by the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements (CITA) on September 23, 2004. The petition alleges that the fabric cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner.

The Commission will provide probable economic effects advice in the review for the napped sheeting fabrics under its investigation No. 332-458, Commercial Availability of Apparel Inputs (2004): Effect of Providing Preferential Treatment to Apparel Imported from Sub-Saharan African, Caribbean Basin, and Andean Countries, instituted at the request of the United States Trade Representative (USTR). The advice concerns the probable economic effect on U.S. producers, workers, and consumers of granting duty-free and quota-free treatment to apparel made in eligible countries from the specified fabrics or yarns, regardless of the source of such inputs, should CITA determine that the fabrics or yarns cannot be supplied by the domestic industry in commercial quantities in a timely manner.

The Commission plans to submit its advice for this review in a classified report to USTR by November 4, 2004. The Commission will issue a public version of the review soon thereafter.

The Commission invites interested parties to submit written statements (original and 3 copies) concerning issues to be addressed by the Commission in this review by October 18, 2004. Information on procedures for submitting written statements to the Commission can be found in its notice of investigation, which was published in the Federal Register of February 9, 2004 (69 F.R. 6003) and posted on its website at <http://www.usitc.gov/invfrn.htm#332>.
